

What is it?

ktMINE is a New, Current, and Searchable Repository of Royalty Rate Data and License Agreements

Technology Transfer Tactics now offers valuation analysts hands-on access to the most comprehensive source of royalty rate data available anywhere through our relationship with ktMINE. This interactive intellectual property database provides direct access to royalty rates, complete text from the source license agreements and detailed agreement summaries. With precise search functionality and robust data mining capabilities, ktMINE lets you quickly find and analyze market comparables from a goldmine of IP license agreements and documents.

What makes it special?

You get direct (YOU do the search) and unlimited (no limit on number of records and no increasing fees as the number of records increases) access to royalty rates and the complete text from the source license agreements – ktMINE's data repository houses thousands of public agreements and license agreements, as well as service contracts, referral agreements, and more. ktMINE users are able to run unlimited searches and view unlimited results, which include all royalty rates and full text for various agreement types, including:

- Patent Agreements
- Know How Agreements
- Process Agreements
- Trademark Agreements
- Trade Name Agreements
- Copyright Agreements
- And more!

How can you search through thousands of license agreements?

ktMINE analysts review every agreement in the database using a 30+ datapoint process that ensures that all key licensing terms are accurately captured and categorized. Search by: Licensor, Licensee, Filing Company, Effective Date, SIC Code, Territory, Exclusivity, Agreement Type, Industry, Royalty Rate, plus every key word and phrase in the agreements are tagged for the ultimate keyword search! ktMINE analysts provide In-depth Summaries, extract the royalty data, and provide statistical tools to view trends in each of your agreement sets. (ktMINE's summaries list an agreement's key licensing terms, and users have unlimited access to the full agreements.)
